One of my memories of our family is when Peter was hospitalized after an accident (I think this was around 1974), we gathered there as a family almost every night to play cards as a family. Now, whereas I know this was not easy for Peter and Karen, I think it was a wonderful unifying thing for our family for our family as a whole.

When Peter and Karen were first going together, they were going to go kayaking in the American River and they needed to borrow my station wagon to do this. Whereas, Peter was used to life in our house, Karen really did not fully appreciate what it might be like becoming a part of our family. Peter's kayak was painted red, white and blue, like an American flag. The day before I had decided to fix up my station wagon. So, not really thinking much about Pete and Karen's outing the next day, I covered the entire station wagon with about an inch of mud and planted ivy all over the wagon. My understanding is the Karen really enjoyed the attention as well as honks of appreciation and confusion by others as they drove down Madison Ave, in an ivy and mud covered station wagon with a kayak on top painted like an American flag. It was the perfect 1st or 2nd date and I am glad that I was able to contribute to Karen's experience as a part of the Kukis family.

Gary Kukis This is actually a story I heard. Most of the Kukis children have seemed fairly normal. However, I understand that Kelley came across a dining room table which was brightly colored and looked like a set of mushrooms. The last I heard, she purchased this set and it is in storage at the Peter and Karen house.

Gary Kukis	I don't recall whether my mom or dad told me about this, but Betty and Walt were just dating, so Walt had to be nice to everyone in Betty's family. So, while there were a group of them in separate cars, the car behind Walt apparently "bumped" into Walt at slow speeds from behind several times. And all the while, Walt had to maintain his composure and act as though he found this mildly amusing.

Gary Kukis	I have no clue as to what Zak looks like, even though I met him once or twice. Linda told me something along the lines of, one day he told her, when Linda was pregnant, that this was way too much responsibility, and split. Linda, around this point in time, lived in this tiny one bedroom house off San Juan. She painted the kitchen orange and green, like a salad, she explained to me.

Gary Kukis		Robin was very tall, skinny, and had a thin, trimmed mustache. He wrote a poem about a cane which drove him insane. When Linda decided things were over, she chased him down the stairs of their 16 th Victorian rental, throwing stuffed animals at him.

At that store, there were about 8 women who apparently cut each other's throats. I recall going up to the main office several months later, and there was a whole new set of gals there.

Gary Kukis	Don't think I ever met Billy Ray, but I think this was the time when Linda and he would steal things, like caterpillars and boldly (that's one word for it) park them in front of their house. So I was told.

Steve could be the bravest of all Linda's husbands, as they may be together for more than 5 years. Somehow, he is able to deal with the animal kingdom that they live in and apparently seems to like it.
